I Dwell Among the People

"I sought to hear the voice of God and climbed the topmost steeple, but God declared: 'Go down again — I dwell among the people'."

I remember the first time I heard this poem, attributed to St John Henry Newman. I was about 18, and had dutifully attended Mass. It took a while for the message to truly sink in.

Although soundbites should generally be approached with caution, I do think Newman's words capture something of the heart of our faith. Jesus offers us another concise summary in this Sunday's Gospel (Matthew 22:34–40). Challenged by a lawyer who asks which commandment is the greatest, Jesus responds by bringing two commandments together.

The first is the Shema, Israel's daily prayer and call to love God with all our heart, soul and mind, drawn from Deuteronomy (6:5). Jesus immediately pairs it with the commandment from Leviticus (19:18) to love our neighbour. He tells us that the second is 'like' the first. To fulfil both parts we must love with no separation in our heart, just as there is no separation in God's heart.

This has been particularly fitting to reflect on during a week in which our diocese has celebrated the episcopal ordination of our new Bishop, Stephen Wang. If Christ summarises the entire Law of God through these two commandments, what does this mean for the ministry of our new Chief Shepherd?

You may have witnessed Bishop Stephen's passion for communicating theology through the Sycamore videos, or seen the video shared by the diocese last week in which he spoke about preparing for this new ministry through time spent on retreat and in prayer. From this we see a man firmly rooted in his relationship with God. But what of the command to love your neighbour as yourself?

I have a personal memory of Bishop Stephen from when he accompanied our group at World Youth Day in Madrid. Over two weeks he made a point of spending each mealtime with a different group of people, taking time to listen and engage with them. I know he was listening because the day after sitting with me he referred to something I had shared with him in his homily! I also remember him enthusiastically leading the crowds in chants of "¡Viva el Papa!"

It is a small memory, but one that has stayed with me. In the midst of a huge international gathering, he made time for individual people. As he begins his ministry as our Bishop, let us hope and pray that this combination of prayerful attentiveness to God and a willingness to walk alongside people will bear fruit throughout our diocese.

God bless, Teresa.

Fr Rob writes:

Speaking Love In Truth. Bishop Stephen Wang's ordination as our bishop on Monday was a great event. At the end of the service, Bishop Stephen announced his motto: 'Caritas In Veritate', which is drawn from Ephesians 4.15, in which St Paul urges his community to 'Speak the truth in love.' Bishop Stephen said that these words had always been a guiding light in his ministry. I am sure that he will bring both the gentle tone of voice which will be familiar to anyone who has watched any of his Sycamore series of videos (see www.sycamore.fm/) and that desire to communicate a message of love rooted in the Gospel. As we continue to pray for him, let us use this moment to ask ourselves whether we live that same motto as a community and as individuals. When you look around at the adversarial and often caustic commentary on social media it is clear how much a clear and gentle sharing of the wisdom of Christ could contribute to the healing of hearts, minds and societies.

Our Candidate For Diaconate. Congratulations to Wilson Kannookaden, accepted as a candidate for ordination to the permanent diaconate this Friday evening (October 23) by Bishop Stephen in one of his first acts as our new Bishop. Like Deacon Russell and Deacon Rob, Wilson is preparing for a ministry of the Word and of Charity. This permanent role (a distinctive sharing in the Sacrament of Order) involves assisting at the altar during the Eucharist, presiding at baptisms, weddings and funerals, and pastoral care especially of the vulnerable, the sick and the poor. The vocation emerges from a time of prayer and discernment, and we are grateful to God for this calling which has emerged in Wilson's life. Keep him in your prayers as he continues his formation over the next two years.

A reminder that the clocks go back this weekend 24th/25th October.

NOVEMBER: MONTH OF THE HOLY SOULS

As there is no newsletter next weekend, due to the half-term break (enjoy the extra hour in bed this Saturday night!), this is an opportune moment to say something about November, 'The Month Of The Holy Souls'. Perhaps we should really call it 'The Month Of The Communion Of Saints', since what we proclaim by our prayers is our faith that those who have died remain connected to us and are on the same journey towards the fullness of life in God. We offer prayers, not to 'twist God's arm to let our loved ones into heaven' (as if a loving God might need persuasion!) but in gratitude for them and in recognition that, just like ourselves, they knew limitation and sinfulness. They remain what they always were, our sisters and brothers in faith. All of us are part of the one 'Communion of Saints' – and when our limited, imperfect love comes face to face with the pure love of God all our shoddiness will be stripped away. Whether you wish to speak of that transformation as the matter of a moment, a lightning flash (see 1 Cor 15.51-2), or as a process that 'takes time' in eternity, what matters is the change, by which we become fully who we are created to be – the image and likeness of God in Christ. Yes, this is a month of remembrance and introspection but it is not a time of anxiety and fear. We simply entrust our loved ones to God's mercy – and ourselves as well – with grateful hearts. Fr Rob
